

INNOVATIVE TREATMENTS FOR YOUR PET

Palm City Animal Medical Center has been at the forefront of animal physical therapy on the Treasure Coast, and continuously incorporates innovative techniques that have proven to be beneficial. In fact, our medical center is the only one of its kind in the area to offer the healing benefits of an underwater hydrotherapy treadmill. Now, with the addition of our newest veterinarian, Dr. Elizabeth Jolin, who completed the Small Animal Acupuncture Program at the Chi Institute in Reddick, Florida, we have incorporated acupuncture into general practice, allowing patients to benefit from modern medicine and traditional Chinese Veterinary medicine. Acupuncture has been practiced on animals and humans for thousands of years. It can be defined as a stimulation of a specific point on the body, known as an acupoint, which results in a therapeutic effect. Acupoints can be stimulated with different methods to include dry needling, aqua-acupuncture, and electro-stimulation. To promote better health for our pets, acupuncture can be used alone, or in combination with modern medicine and physical therapy.

Physical therapy in veterinary medicine has added a whole new dimension to treating and helping animals, and the team at Palm City Animal Medical Center believes that seeing the impact of PT on healing animals is one of the most exciting aspects of practicing veterinary medicine. Whether your pet is suffering from arthritis, back problems, fatigue, or pain...or healing from joint or bone surgery or a myriad of other physical conditions... physical therapy can help alleviate your animal's pain and facilitate the journey toward wellness and the capacity to live the fullest life possible.

We offer an impressive range of treatment plans and regimens for your pet to include our newest Companion Class 4 Laser. Laser therapy is painless, and treats chronic skins lesions, arthritis, back problems and much more. By carefully assessing your pet's condition and determining which combination of the many treatment techniques we have at our disposal will be most beneficial, we have been able to design treatment plans that have helped hundreds of animals. Patients can benefit not only from hydrotherapy and laser therapy, but therapeutic ultrasound, cryotherapy, massage therapy, neuromuscular electrical stimulation and/or exercise, and other treatments that help relieve your pet's pain, improve their range of motion, and expand their overall physical potential and level of comfort.
